

A black and white photograph showing a soldier in a trench, looking through a periscope. A large, cylindrical object, possibly a barrel or a piece of equipment, is visible in the background. The scene is dark and appears to be a battlefield or a fortified position.

